ASX Announcement

Completion of ResCo Strategic Review

As previously announced to the market, Bluestone has been undertaking a strategic review of its mining services and contracting subsidiary, ResCo Services. This review is now complete and the Directors and management have concluded that the ResCo business and its clients would be best served if the business were able to rapidly increase in scale. To that end, management has initiated discussions with prospective partners or acquirers with a view to securing a joint venture or full or partial divestment of the business.
