Clough AMEC awarded Maintenance Services contract for Woodside

Engineering and construction company Clough Limited (ASX:CLO) today announced that Clough AMEC, a 50/50 joint venture between Clough and international engineering and project management company AMEC, has been awarded a new contract by Woodside Energy Ltd to provide offshore maintenance services for their Australian oil and gas assets, predominantly located on the North West Shelf off Western Australia.

Clough AMEC has provided asset support services to Woodside Energy for the last 5 years. This new two-year contract includes two one-year extension options. Clough AMEC will provide maintenance services for the supply of offshore core crew and routine/campaign maintenance works on Woodside Energy's key offshore oil and gas production assets. The offshore work will be managed and controlled from Clough AMEC's Perth office with key interfaces with Woodside Energy's Maintenance Group also located in Perth.

"After five years of delivering asset support services to Woodside, we are delighted to be continuing our relationship through this maintenance agreement" said John Smith, Chief Executive Officer of Clough. "We look forward to helping Woodside optimise the life, profitability and safety of these important assets".
