Nanosonics appoints three new senior executives as part of global business expansion

Nanosonics (ASX: NAN), a leader in infection control solutions, today announced the appointment of three new senior executives to further support its global business expansion strategy.

Renee Salaberry has joined as Chief Marketing Officer. Renee is a highly experienced international marketer having held senior executive roles including Executive Vice President and Worldwide Strategy Director for one of the world's largest advertising agencies, Leo Burnett based in Chicago, and Worldwide Chief Strategy Officer for Publicis Healthcare Communications group based in Paris and Sydney. Most recently Renee was Head of Marketing for Abbott Nutrition based in Sydney.

David Morris has joined as Chief Strategy Officer and Regional President Asia Pacific. David was a member of the Cochlear executive team for over fourteen years where he held a number of executive positions including SVP of Strategy and Business Development, Global President for the Cochlear Bone Anchored Solutions Business based in Sweden and Chief Strategy Officer for Cochlear. Most recently, David was Chief Executive Officer and Managing Director for Monash IVF Group Limited. David joins as an Executive KMP.

Rod Lopez joins as Chief Operating Officer on 4 March. Rod is a highly credentialed operations professional having held senior management roles accountable for the development and execution of broad operational strategies. Rod was a senior manager at Cochlear for over thirteen years, holding a number of operational roles including Global Head of Manufacturing and Chair of the Operational Excellence Strategy group. Prior to Cochlear, Rod worked at GM Holden as Operations Manager and Global Customer Liaison Manager. In addition to all aspects of operations, Rod will be responsible for Nanosonics' global service business with a view to driving further growth and value in that area whilst continuing to prioritise high customer satisfaction. Rod joins as an Executive KMP.

"As part of our ongoing global strategic growth agenda I am delighted we have attracted such high calibre senior executives," said Michael Kavanagh, Nanosonics' Chief Executive Officer and President. "Nanosonics is at an exciting phase of its growth as we expand globally and plan for the introduction of new products. These new positions further expands the breadth and depth of experience and capability within the business and will play a pivotal role in the next phase of Nanosonics' growth, shaping our strategic and operational agenda as we continue our global and product expansion".
